

Dr. Clare Gardiner

Employment and family caregiving in palliative care

The talk will explore some of the financial impacts of end of life caregiving, in particular focusing on employment and the challenges of providing informal care to someone approaching the end of life whilst remaining in paid work. The role of government policy and employment legislation will also be considered, reflecting on international evidence including from the UK and Canada.

June 7, 2023

1:30- 2:30 pm (PDT)

Zoom Link:

<https://uvic.zoom.us/j/87488804312>

Dr. Clare Gardiner

Clare is Professor of Palliative Care at the Health Sciences School at The University of Sheffield, UK. She is particularly interested in research concerning economic aspects of palliative care, particularly the costs of family caregiving and impacts on employment.

